

I was registered with New Jersey's Do Not Call List at my previous home and I just signed up my new home number for the list. The first time I was on the list, I was finally able to have some peace at home after a long day of work. Since I moved, I have been overwhelmed by telemarketing calls at all hours! Most of the telemarketers that call will not take "no" for an answer and quickly become rude and extremely pushy. If I wanted their services, I would call them. I do not need to be harrassed in my own home. I can not wait for my new telephone number to take effect on the Do Not Call List and to get some peace in my new home.
